Chapter 59: The Armies of the Lesser Absolutes

The Lesser Absolutes, despite their extraordinary powers, understood the need for structured forces to maintain order and stability in their vast inner worlds. Each Lesser Absolute Being created an army tailored to their domain, ensuring that their troops reflected the essence of their realms. These armies, drawn from the essence of their worlds, were vast in number, diverse in composition, and uniquely specialized to fulfill various roles.

---

1. Lumiel’s Army of Light (Ashborn's Inner Worlds)

Source of Army

Lumiel’s forces were born from the primordial light that radiated from the core of Ashborn’s inner worlds.

These beings, infused with the essence of celestial light, were created directly by Lumiel through his mastery over creation and energy.

Composition

Celestial Archons: The elite commanders, with radiant golden armor and twelve wings. They wield massive spears of light that can shatter mountains. (10,000)

Luminara Knights: Heavy infantry adorned in shimmering silver armor. They carry shields and swords that emit solar flares. (1 billion)

Lightborn Legion: Rank-and-file soldiers, appearing as humanoid figures of pure light. They are equipped with bows and arrows of concentrated energy. (100 billion)

Seraphim Riders: Mounted on radiant, winged beasts, they patrol the skies and act as scouts and swift attackers. (5 million)

Weapons and Appearance

Weapons: Radiant blades, spears of light, energy bows, and shields that can deflect any physical attack.

Appearance: Beings of intense luminosity, with skin and features glowing like the sun. Their armor is metallic but shines like polished mirrors, reflecting light across entire battlefields.

Roles

Defenders of Harmony: Protect settlements and mediate disputes.

Purgers of Corruption: Eliminate any dark forces that arise within Ashborn’s worlds.

Builders of Civilization: Assist in constructing and maintaining cities of light.

---

2. Umbrios’ Shadow Legion (Sung Jin-Woo's Inner Worlds)

Source of Army

Umbrios’ army emerged from the depths of the Shadowforge, a vast realm within his inner worlds where shadows condensed into sentient forms.

They were shaped from the darkness that permeated the worlds, combined with fragments of Umbrios’ own essence.

Composition

Shadow Warlords: Colossal shadowy figures who serve as the generals of the legion. They carry massive weapons and radiate an aura of dread. (50,000)

Ebon Knights: Armored soldiers with jagged black blades and shields of void energy. (500 million)

Nocturnal Stalkers: Stealth units that move unseen and strike from the shadows, often wielding daggers and poison-tipped weapons. (10 billion)

Nightshade Beasts: Gigantic creatures formed from shadow energy, used as both war mounts and siege engines. (2 million)

Weapons and Appearance

Weapons: Dark-edged swords, crescent-shaped scythes, shadow-forged bows, and explosive shadow orbs.

Appearance: Cloaked in darkness, their forms are semi-ethereal, with glowing violet eyes and shadow-infused armor.

Roles

Guerrilla Warfare Specialists: Excel in ambushes and surprise attacks.

Enforcers of Order: Suppress rebellions and maintain control over unruly regions.

Explorers of the Abyss: Scout unknown regions of the inner worlds for expansion or resources.

---

3. Drakion’s Draconic Host (Sung Su-Ho's Inner Worlds)

Source of Army

Drakion’s forces were drawn from the fire and fury of the volcanic cores of his worlds, combined with the essence of the dragonkin that naturally thrived in his domain.

Each soldier was personally forged and empowered by Drakion, ensuring unparalleled loyalty and strength.

Composition

Draconian Overlords: Massive humanoid dragons with wings of fire and scales harder than any known material. They serve as Drakion’s most trusted lieutenants. (20,000)

Flameborn Legionnaires: Infantry units covered in molten armor, wielding blazing swords and shields. (1 billion)

Skybound Wyverns: Mounted dragonkin soldiers who rain fiery projectiles from above. (100 million)

Infernal Titans: Enormous, magma-covered beasts that act as siege units, capable of leveling entire cities. (1 million)

Weapons and Appearance

Weapons: Flaming swords, lava-infused hammers, fire-forged spears, and explosive fireballs.

Appearance: Soldiers have dragon-like features, with scaled armor, clawed hands, and glowing eyes. Their weapons and bodies constantly radiate heat.

Roles

Guardians of the Flame: Defend the core territories of Drakion’s worlds.

Destroyers of Chaos: Quickly and efficiently eliminate any large-scale threats.

Engineers of Fire: Create weapons, cities, and fortresses using volcanic energy.

Awareness of Their Hosts

The Lesser Absolutes were fully aware of the existence of their creators: The Divine Triad. While they did not beg or request assistance, they occasionally reported on the state of their worlds. These reports were not out of obligation but out of respect for the ones who had given them life and power.

Each Lesser Absolute Being carried out their duties independently, knowing they were free to rule their realms as they saw fit. The Divine Triad observed with satisfaction, curious to see how their creations wielded the godlike authority entrusted to them.

The armies of the Lesser Absolutes became the backbone of their rule, ensuring order, growth, and the suppression of chaos within their vast inner worlds.

[shortened version]

Chapter 59: The Lesser Absolutes' Army

More explanation about this lesser Absolutes' source of the army, their composition, their numbers, their appearance, their weapons and their roles:

1. Lumiel, lesser Absolute Being from Ashborn
2. Umbrios, lesser Absolute Being from Sung Jin-Woo
3. Drakion, lesser Absolute Being from Sung Su-Ho

They are also aware of the presence of their host/creator (The Divine Triad). Sometimes they reported. They never requested or begged over something, they already have the power. They can do whatever they want inside the inner worlds.